HAPPY HANUKKAH FROM ALL OF US AT CONGREGATION ALBERT

HERE ARE SOME FUN FACTS ABOUT HANUKKAH!

There are at least 44 candles in each box of Hanukkah candles, enough for one person to light the hanukkiah every night.

The average 100-gram sufganiyah (doughnut) packs 400-600 calories.

Hanukkah also goes by the names of the Festival of Lights and Feast of Dedication.

As studying Torah was outlawed by the Greeks, tradition holds that kids used to meet up in secret to learn, but if a Greek soldier happened upon their meeting they would pretend to be gambling with their dreidels.

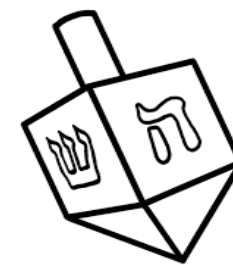

Dreidel, is a Yiddish word which comes from 'drei' – to turn or spin.

Though it is one of the most well-known and celebrated Jewish festivals, Hanukkah is actually a more minor holiday, not even mentioned in the Torah.

The Hebrew letters, nun, gimmel, hay, shin on the dreidel stand for the phrase "A great miracle happened there."

Tradition states that the hanukkiyah should have all candles or wicks at the same level, with only the shamash – the ninth candle or wick, for lighting the other eight – a bit higher or lower.

The first official White House Hanukkah party was held on December 10, 2001.
